

Course Changes for the academic year 2020-21

We have considered the likely impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and government guidance, and can confirm that there will be no changes to the Tripos programme in 2020-21 based on current guidance.

As the University has already advised, teaching will be delivered by a blend of in-person and online teaching, and we will confirm the details for Philosophy as soon as we are able.