CAMBRIDGE

Clothes, Colours and Culture

Day event for children in care in school years 7 - 9

Wednesday 27 May 2015

Are you interested in how we express ourselves as human beings, and how we communicate with others through what we wear?

Discover all this and more at our hands-on trip to the Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology.

Plus enjoy a free lunch at Trinity College, and a University Trail around Cambridge.

Clothes, Colours and Culture

Day event for children in care in school years 7 - 9

What will the event involve?

- A University trail around the centre of Cambridge
- Hearing from a care leaver student
- A free lunch
- An object-handling session and gallery trail at the Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology

Who is the event aimed at?

The event is for children in care of all abilities in school years 7 – 9 who are enthusiastic about any aspect of education. Perhaps you would like a taste of higher education and what is on offer at the University of Cambridge, or simply want to discover more about your interests and future options?

Where?

The event will be held at Trinity College, at the University of Cambridge. Students are welcome to bring a foster carer/social worker/teacher with them, and a foster sibling/friend if they wish. All reasonable travel costs will be funded by the University. If you make a booking you will be contacted by email nearer the time with further information.

When?

Wednesday 27 May, 10.30am for an 11am start, finishing at 4pm.

For more information contact Claire Gardner on 01223 766872 or email care@cao.cam.ac.uk.

 Bookings will close at 5pm Wednesday 20 May, or earlier if capacity is reached
